

Looking after your personal information

At HBV Capital we take protecting your personal information seriously, so we wanted to let you know about the impact of changes in data protection law, which benefit you.

Data Protection Legislation

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) applies from May 2018. It places data protection obligations on us, making us more accountable and transparent when we use your personal information.

Our Privacy Information Notice:

Personal information which you provide to us may be used for business purposes including:

- To keep records of your requirements
- To prepare paperwork for your finance application
- For accounting and regulatory purposes
- To keep you informed on our services

We may share information about you with other firms including finance companies. If you make a transaction using our services, we will keep your data for ten years after the end of the contract. If you do not make a transaction, we will keep your data for three years.

What GDPR means for you

You now have more control over your personal information.

You can find out more about how we handle your personal information.

You have the 'right to be forgotten', which means you can ask us to delete or remove your personal information if there is no compelling reason for us to keep it.

We will only process your personal information if we have a lawful basis for doing so, for example, managing your Agreement(s) with the different funders, as a result of a legal obligation or with your consent.
